EXPERIENCES YOU WILL TREASURE AT LENGTH

Suggestions for an unforgettable journey

We represent unique, extraordinary independent and privately-owned boutique hotels, villas and yachts in Italy. To promote the hotels we represent we take pride in creating travel suggestions and itineraries, where our local knowledge meets the needs and interests of travel advisors and clients. Make this your very own tale of discovery along this unique peninsula, whether your primary concern is art, architecture, archaeology or even fine dining and shopping.

Our goal is to introduce travel advisors to new products and act as a primary resource for information and assistance ensuring they receive all the support they need in real time. Having a “sample itinerary” connecting the properties gives something more solid and potentially concrete to promote, rather than a mere collection of hotels.

Extraordinary hotels, whose credo is painstaking attention to details, excellence throughout, and whose experience is one you will treasure at length. Light varying a thousand times in a day, sensational dawns and sunsets, ever-changing hues, the lull of the waves by the shore, a star-studded sky, savouring an outstanding meal: you will simply ask for more.

COSTA SMERALDA

Some say that Sardinia is a continent in its own right.

You could, in fact, spend a lifetime travelling around her coasts and still not come close to exhausting her riches, given the surprising variety of hidden bays, pristine waters, wild shores and world-famous beaches, not to mention a glitzy showground for the well-heeled, as well as traditions galore all over the island. Sardinia is bewildering when it comes to its archaeological sites, this marvellous island hides many secrets and we want to reveal some of them.

day 1 / day 2 / day 3

In Barbagia, south of Olbia, the island shows its most authentic soul and this remote land, which the Romans called Barbaria – is simply astonishing. Across the centuries, it acquired the image of an inaccessible territory, where bandits took refuge and the wilderness triumphed. Aptly labelled as the “Italian Far West”, this precious land is enriched by numerous hidden secrets. Spanning from Orgosolo and its world-famous murals– a staggering 150 scattered around the village - to Su Gorropu, Europe’s largest canyon, with the river Flumineddu streaming along 500-metre-high walls, enclosing the Pischina Urtaddala, a pond where subterranean waters stream, it’s surprise galore in this Sardinian gem.

And that’s not all: Archaeology triumphs at Serra Orrios and Tiscali, an ancient Nuragic hamlet in the Lanaïttu valley boasting ancient, mysterious origins. Dotted with secluded, hard to get to olm oak forests, granite rock formations exude remoteness and a captivating fascination, best gazed at from the Supramonte range, a chalky plateau northeast of the Gennargentu Massif. You can reach the Corrasi mountain for the sunset of a lifetime or delve into the inland beauty searching for wild orchids; walk along ancient paths where deliciously fragrant scents of myrtle and helichrysum will enrapture you. You may even explore the many unexpected rivers by canoe, such as the Cedrina river, only to encounter the hidden beauties of a proud, generous land.

Admired all over the world, Sardinia is seen through the colours pink, blue and green – pink-tinged facades, emerald sea and unexpectedly green, lush vegetation: not only will you encounter authenticity at the nth degree in this fascinating island, but you will discover the authentic, proud Sardinian soul.

The fascinating northern stretch of this fabulous island sees some of the most renowned beaches, among which is the La Maddalena Archipelago.

This is a marine-protected National Park established in 1994, comprising seven outstanding islands such as Caprera, Budelli and Spargi, and numerous isolotti, where nature still sets the tone.

Cala Corsara on Spargi, Spiaggia Rosa on Budelli and Cala Coticcio on Caprera are among the most famous, although when it comes to Sardinian beaches, you know that you're in for a treat at every corner.

A hidden gem in the Costa Smeralda, L'Ea Bianca Luxury Resort is where intimate luxury meets unspoiled nature. With just 34 elegant rooms and suites, all boasting sweeping sea views, and 5 private villas with full hotel services, the resort offers a rare sense of privacy and understated sophistication. Ideally located just 10 minutes from Porto Cervo, L'Ea Bianca perfectly balances the glamour of the Costa Smeralda with the calm of a secluded retreat. Following a complete and transformative refurbishment, the hotel has been fully reimagined with a refreshed design, elevated concept and a more refined guest experience throughout—positioning L'Ea Bianca as one of the most desirable boutique resorts in the area.
